Response to Arguments

Applicant in his Arguments attacks the Busato reference alleging that it does not disclose the switch. His criticism is based on typographic error made while typing the Office Action. The switching device, which is indicated on Fig. 4 of Busato as element 26b, was erroneously typed as 26a. Examiner apologizes for the typing error. However, it is worth to note that one of ordinary skill in the art would not consider the resistor 26a as a switching element, as Applicant did, since the switching element (transistor 26b) is clearly shown next to the resistor. All other Arguments repeat the same allegation.
